New St. Joe Alumni, 1960 . . .

113 SJC Seniors Enter Alumni Ranks June 5

Dr. Helen C. White, professor of English at the University of Wisconsin, told 113 graduates at St. Joseph's College June 5 that "it is the life of the mind, giving understanding to experience and richness of meaning to existence, that is really the distinctive thing about a college education."

In addition to delivering the commencement address, Dr. White, author of 13 books, also received an honorary Doctor of Letters degree—the 15th honorary degree of her career.

Also receiving the Doctor of Letters degree was Albert A. Leach, New Mexico geologist who donated land to St. Joseph's in 1957. The College awarded Doctor of Laws degrees to Morris E. Jacobs, president of the advertising firm of Bozell and Jacobs, of Omaha, Neb., and a member of St. Joseph's Board of Lay Trustees; and Justin H. Oppenheim, '19, retired Ohio business executive who is also a member of the College's Board of Lay Trustees.

Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer, Republican minority leader in the House of Representatives, also participated in the ceremonies. Mr. Halleck is also a member of the St. Joseph Board of Lay Trustees.

65th Commencement

St. Joseph's 65th annual commencement exercises were held in the fieldhouse.

Dr. White is the author of 13 books and a member of 33 academic, governmental, religious and civic organizations and societies. She is a former national president of the American Association of University Professors; former president of the College English Association; a former director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; a former executive committee member of the American Council on Education; and former chairman of the U.S. Board of Foreign Scholarships.

Since 1939 Dr. White has received the honorary LL.D. degree from three colleges, the honorary Litt. D. degree from six colleges and the honorary L.H.D. degree from five colleges.

Dr. White earned the A.B. and A.M. degrees from Radcliffe college in 1916 and 1917, and the Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1924. She has taught English at Wisconsin since 1919 and has been a visiting professor at Bernard college, Columbia University and Harvard.

She has also been the recipient of 13 awards and fellowships, including the Laetare Medal from the University of Notre Dame, the Cardinal Newman award, the Christopher Literary award, a Guggenheim Fellowship and a Folger Library Research Fellowship.

Mr. Jacobs, a native of Omaha, is an alumnus of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

In addition to his position as president of Bozell and Jacobs, Inc., he is a member of the board of directors of the Occidental Building and Loan Assn. and, since last June, a member of the Agency Administration committee of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. He is also an officer or member of 23 civic, welfare, educational and religious organizations.

Mr. Jacobs holds an honorary LL.D. degree from Creighton University and last year was presented the Distinguished Service award by the Missouri University School of Journalism. He has also been the recipient of 23 other awards for his civic contributions.

Albert A. Leach

Mr. Leach, who received a B.S. degree in mining engineering from Columbia University in 1911, donated three 20-acre claims

College Establishes Four Year Degree Center

St. Joseph's College has established a four-year, degree-granting Center in the Calumet Region. The institution is called St. Joseph's College, Calumet Center.

HOMECOMING '60

Put this date on your calendar—October 29, 1960. That's the date of this year's St. Joseph's Homecoming. The Pumas will play Ball State Teachers College in the annual Homecoming game. Reunions are being planned for the classes of '10, '35, '40, '50, '55. We hope to see YOU this year.

32 Graduated in July Exercises

Thirty-two students received degrees as the 1960 summer session of St. Joseph's College officially ended with commencement exercises on July 29.

The Rev. Joseph Green, C.P.P.S., '27, assigned to the mission band of the Precious Blood Order, delivered the Baccalaureate address.

Dom Gaspar Lefebvre, O.S.B., author of a book on the Precious Blood, and other writings on the theology of the Precious Blood, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Letters degree by the college.

(Fr. Edward A. Maziarz, C.P.P.S., dean of St. Joseph's College, has recently had published a translation of Dom Gaspar Lefebvre's Redemption Through the Blood of Jesus. See April issue of CONTACT . . . Ed.)

The Rev. George J. Lubeley, '39, C.P.P.S., S.T.L. was director of the summer session.

St. Joseph's College, Calumet Center, will not be an independent diocesan institution but will be a second campus of St. Joseph's College of Rensselaer. This means that the Center, as part of St. Joseph's College, will be fully accredited and that the B.A. and B.S. degrees will be granted by St. Joseph's College of Rensselaer.

The new Center will replace the present St. Joseph's College Calumet Extension, which was established in 1951. The Extension has offered a two-year program of college work and students seeking degrees have had to go elsewhere for their final two years.

Father Gross, as president of St. Joseph's College, will also be president of the Calumet Center. Director of the Center will be Fr. Henry J. Martin, C.P.P.S., '36, who is presently the Director of the Extension. The present assistant director, Fr. Cletus G. Kern, C.P.P.S., '31, will hold the same post on the new campus.

The new Center will be open to both men and women, Catholics and non-Catholics alike. "If we operate all of our classrooms at capacity, we could take about 1,000 full-time students," said Father Martin.

The newly acquired building is a two-story brick structure built in 1947. It will house 11 classrooms, offices, library, student lounge, and art studio. The entire operation of the new Center will take place, at least at the start, in the new building, which is right across the street from the present Extension headquarters. (Continued on Page 4)

Death Calls Former Dean

(The following is reprinted from The Gasparian, a newspaper published for members of the Society of the Precious Blood.)

Father Walter Pax died in the infirmary at the motherhouse on May 3, 1960. Father Pax was moved from Brunnerdale Seminary to Carthagen Seminary when it was apparent that he needed special care because of the advancing effects of his illness, cancer of the liver. Last November 24 at Mercy Hospital in Canton, Ohio, he underwent an operation, but little could be done at that time to stay the progress of the disease. He recuperated quite well from the operation, but there remained little hope of arresting entirely the continuance of his illness. However, he was able to go on with his work and to accomplish a number of things before it became necessary for him to relinquish his duties entirely.

Father Walter Pax was born at Celina, Ohio, May 5, 1903, and entered the community at Burkettsville, September 13, 1917. He was professed as a member of the community on December 3, 1923, and ordained to the Holy Priesthood, February 21, 1929. Almost immediately after ordination he taught at Purcell High School in Cincinnati until the following June, 1929. During the summer he enrolled in Catholic University in Washington and remained there to obtain his M.A. degree in the spring of 1930. The following September found him at St. Joseph's College, where he was instructor in Latin, Greek, Civics, and Religion until 1933. During the intervening summer months he studied at Columbia University in New York and the University of Michigan. During those years he was also principal of the Academy, which at that time was still operating at the College.

Attended Catholic University

In 1933 he returned to Catholic University to continue his studies toward a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Education, which he obtained in June of 1937. Returning to St. Joseph's College in the fall of 1937 he continued instructions in Latin, English, Algebra, and Religion in the academy department and conducted courses in education in the college department. During the years 1939 and 1940 he was also the perfect of discipline. In 1937 and 1938 he supervised and taught in the summer sessions conducted under the auspices of the Catholic University at San Raphael in California, and the following two summers of 1939 and 1940 at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa. His great interest and activity in education prompted his appointment as dean of the college at St. Joseph's in 1944, which post he held until 1955.

At DePaul U. for Two Years

In 1945 he refused a teaching position in the Department of Education at the Catholic University in Washington to which position he was urgently invited by Doctor Foran of the University. He considered his services to St. Joseph's to be of greater necessity at that time. Ten years later, however, when the educational program at St. Joseph's had been firmly established Father Pax accepted a position as head of the Education Department at DePaul University for two years, 1955-1957. The work he did there was well received and of real value to the university as evidenced from the letter in appreciation and sympathy that was sent on the occasion of his death by one of the officials of DePaul University. After leaving DePaul he was appointed principal of Brunnerdale Seminary. There he remained until he was forced to retire because of illness in 1959.

From 1950 until his final illness Father Pax was Community Director of Education. During this time he worked with unceasing diligence and enthusiasm to coordinate the various efforts of community institutions in the field of education. The program of studies for priesthood students was to a great extent reorganized and systematized in an effort to keep educational standards as high as possible. Much of the credit for the present scholastic program which the students pursue on their way to the priesthood must be given to Father Pax.

Recently he had been making great efforts to work out initial plans for the structure and curriculum of the proposed training program for the Brother candidates of the Community.

Able Administrator

As an administrator he was extraordinarily thorough. Persistent in making great efforts in all of his work he planned it thoroughly and managed with exactness. Although his knowledge in the field of education was exceptionally broad he nevertheless was kind in listening to the views which differed from his own. He had a special ability to view without prejudice various sides to questions that arose.

He was outstanding as a teacher and educationist, and passionately devoted to the task of promoting the highest possible cultural attainment for students. Surely it was at least partly because of these and other efforts he made in the interest of the Society that Father Pax was chosen as one of the American Delegates to the General Chapter which the Community held in Rome July, 1959.

Members of Family

Members of his immediate family who survive are Jacob Pax, Dayton; Sister M. Leontine and Sister M. Stanislaus both Sisters of the Precious Blood; Leo Pax, Coldwater; Mrs. William Martin, Kendallville, Indiana; Mrs. Homer Hinders, Oscar Pax and Albert Pax, all of Celina; and Father Victor Pax. An older brother, Father Anthony Pax, C.P.P.S., died in 1943.

A large crowd of priests, brothers, and lay people attended the funeral Mass at St. Charles Seminary on May 6. The body was then carried to the Community cemetery for burial.

HELP WANTED

The Placement Bureau of St. Joseph's College is interested in obtaining information regarding job opportunities for St. Joseph's graduates and alumni.

Alumni in business and industry who know of such opportunities are urged to contact Mr. Richard Scharf, Director of Placement, with the information.

Tribune Article Features SJC

(The following article appeared in the Sunday, August 7, edition of the Chicago Tribune. It is reprinted with permission of the Tribune.)

By Richard Philbrick

St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, in northwestern Indiana, will complete a stage of growth this fall which has carried it from the status of a small, pleasant institution to that of a medium size liberal arts college with a thriving urban branch.

In 1953 when the college began its rapid expansion, St. Joseph's had an enrollment of 500 men. It had abolished its secondary school five years before and had recovered from the hectic period all colleges experienced after World War II.

The Society of the Precious Blood, the order which conducts the college, recognized the need for some new buildings on its campus and an opportunity to expand its enrollment. It set to work to raise the necessary money, to recruit additional teachers, and to plan for a college which was bound to become more complex.

4 New Dormitories

Today the college has four new dormitories as well as a gymnasium built since World War II and other recently acquired or renovated facilities.

This fall, said Rev. Charles J. Robbins, registrar and director of admissions, the enrollment will reach 1,100, the capacity of the Collegeville campus. While more than doubling the number of students, the college has increased its faculty from 55 to 75 full time members.

The college has dining room and classroom facilities for 1,500 students. Father Robbins predicted that as soon as more dormitories are built an additional 400 students will be enrolled.

Branch in East Chicago

Meanwhile, the college will serve more students at the East Chicago branch it established in 1951. A two story building it has purchased for its Calumet center will be ready for use in September.

While the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross will continue as president of both the center and the Collegeville campus, the branch will be independent in some respects.

Students will be able to complete a four year course leading to a degree at the center, and it will maintain academic records as though it were a separate scholastic unit, Father Robbins said.

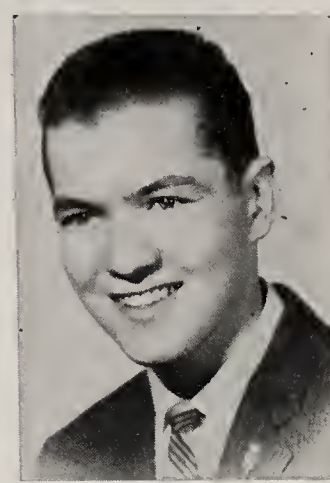

Many Turned Down

The center and the expansion of the college have been major factors in making St. Joseph's known far beyond the borders of Indiana. This year it has had room for only 40 per cent of those who have applied for admission.

Father Robbins said the record number of applicants included an unusual number from New York and New Jersey.

First Fulbright Scholarship To St. Joe College Student

Joseph M. Kanamueller, Jr., '60, a St. Joseph College senior from Chicago, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship and will attend the University of Heidelberg in Germany this fall. He is the first St. Joseph College student ever to win a Fulbright scholarship.

JOE KANAMUELLER, '60

Kanamueller graduated Magna Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry at the college's June 5 commencement exercises. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kanamueller, Sr., of 1711 N. Keeler Avenue, Chicago.

Kanamueller will work toward a master's degree in chemistry at the University of Heidelberg. The scholarship will pay his expenses for 10 months of study, including tuition, books, travel both in this country and in Germany, and a maintenance allowance. Kanamueller plans to sail for Germany in September and will return in August, 1961.

At St. Joseph's Kanamueller was a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national Catholic Honor Society; the engineering club; the chemistry-biology club; the Columbian Players, college dramatic group; the chess and checkers club; Digamma Kappa Lambda; scholastic committee of the Student Council; and Junior delegate at the NFCCS. He was also selected by his classmates this year to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Before receiving the Fulbright, Kanamueller had been offered teaching assistantships at the universities of Minnesota, Northwestern, and Purdue. When he returns from Germany, he plans to attend the University of Minnesota and later teach college chemistry.

Msgr. Conroy, '32 Attends Contest

Joseph A. Richards, '62, William B. Kranz, '61, and Joseph F. Fitzgerald, '61, were winners in St. Joseph's College's annual Conroy Oratory contest held in the college auditorium during the past school year.

The sponsor of the contest is Monsignor James P. Conroy, '32, of Our Sunday Visitor, national Catholic publication. Each year Monsignor Conroy, a 1932 alumnus of St. Joseph's, donates the Msgr. T. M. Conroy Memorial Gold Medal to the contest winner in tribute to his uncle, an 1896 alumnus of St. Joseph's and founder of the contest.

During brief remarks made prior to the presentation of the awards to the contest winners Monsignor Conroy commented on the college's efforts to develop a more articulate Catholic laity.

In explaining the traditions and purposes of the Conroy Oratory Contest, Monsignor Conroy pointed out that the contest represents an opportunity to develop a more articulate Catholic laity. Referring to the remarks of a recent visiting lecturer at the college

Recruiter Named

Michael J. Scott of Chicago has been appointed Chicago area representative for the St. Joseph College Office of the Admissions Counselor. He will represent St. Joseph's at high schools in northern Illinois, southeastern Wisconsin as far north as Milwaukee, and northwestern Indiana. The announcement was made by Rev. Richard P. Baird, C.P.P.S., Admissions Counselor.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Scott for the past two years has been mid-west admissions counselor for Loretto Heights College of Denver, Colo. and has taught at the St. Joseph College Calumet Extension in Hammond, Ind.

Mr. Scott holds the B.S. degree from Valparaiso University and the M.S. degree in educational administration from Indiana University. He has also studied education and guidance at North Manchester College, Northwestern University, the University of Notre Dame, and Chicago Teachers College.

Mr. Scott began his education career at Wheeler, Ind., high school where he taught social science and was basketball, baseball and track coach for one year. He taught physical education for four years, and was also basketball and track coach, at Central Catholic high school in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. Scott was also director of the Whiting, Ind., Community Center for two years and was principal of the McGregor primary school in Whiting for three years.

Mr. Scott's Chicago telephone number is HUDSON 3-9719.

MICHAEL J. SCOTT

who presented some rather controversial views during the course of his lecture which aroused considerable discussion, Monsignor Conroy commented that, "It was to the credit of the college that he (lecturer) was allowed to air his views. It is indicative of the church's encouragement of laymen to air their criticisms." (The lecturer indicated that the Catholic media of communication are unduly controlled by the hierarchy.) "Such charges should be aired and I am happy to see that the college allowed him to speak." "The very fact that these words of criticism came from this public platform at the college and were reported in the college paper is in itself evidence of a definite freedom of expression available to the laity in their pursuit of truth. A college should be the forum of opinion, even in areas of controversy." "It is a credit to St. Joseph's that such a lecturer was brought here."

Monsignor Conroy went on to trace the history and purpose of the contest and noted that one of the main purposes was, "...to encourage and articulate Catholic laymen." He hoped that this oratory contest would continue to serve as a medium of public expression and would help to prepare the students for the important task of disseminating Catholic truth as Catholic leaders later on.

21 Letterman Brighten Puma Grid Outlook in '60

By FRANK UNGER, '57

Football is in the air at St. Joseph's College! The perennial clack of pads and helmets echoes from the fieldhouse walls and slowly covers the campus, from Bennet . . . to Noll . . . to Halas . . . to Gaspar. Chalk-talks, sun-up drills, and gruelling scrimmages become a part of the Pumaville scene as head coach Joe Iofredo evaluates his material. Brains, brawn and field experience are being carefully blended in an effort to produce a winning formula for the rugged St. Joe season of 1960.

Thirty-five players, including twenty-one returning lettermen, reported for the opening of practice on a blistering first of September. Iofredo and his two assistants, Ed Dwyer and Jim Holstein, drilled the squad twice daily for a week and a half before easing up in preparation for the opening game against North-east Missouri on Saturday, September 17, at Rensselaer.

The following weekend the Pumas are hosts to DePauw University in their first of six conference tilts. DePauw never has beaten St. Joe and will be out to dissolve any Puma championship hopes early in the season. On October 1, the St. Joe men move to the Butler Bowl in an attempt to knock off the 1959 I.C.C. champs. Always a tough, well-fought contest, this game should be of utmost importance in determining the final standings of the conference.

Wheaton College at Wheaton, Ill. welcomes the Pumas on October 8 in the first meeting of the two teams. Highly regarded Wheaton holds the title of Illinois Conference Champ and has maintained that title for the past six years. On October 15, Indiana State moves to the St. Joe grid-iron for the annual Dad's Day battle. State is considered as the dark horse in the I.C.C. race for 1960 and looms as one of the toughest obstacles on the nine game card of the Puma's. On the following Saturday the great grudge battle between St. Joseph's and neighbor Valparaiso University takes place at Valpo.

Ball State visits the Rensselaer campus on October 29 for the St. Joe Homecoming in an attempt to upset the Puma hopes for another impressive victory. Last year St. Joe pleased its alumni crowd with a 22-8 win over this same opponent. On November 5, St. Joe battles Evansville on the Aces home ground. In their game of last season, the spirited Pumas upset one of Evansville's most successful records with a surprising 8-7 victory. In the final game on the 1960 card St. Joe will host Central State of Ohio. The teams have not met for the past five years so the game promises to be well-deserving of its respected position on the St. Joseph's schedule.

Coach Iofredo and his staff of Holstein and Dwyer are heavily relying on the experience of left-end Jim Madden and senior half-back George Connelly, both from Chicago, quarterbacks Ralph Gardner from Hammond and Dave Beam from Louisville, linemen Mike Bartels of Milwaukee, Otto Lehman from Louisville, and Vince Goeddeke from Detroit, and a host of additional lettermen.

Combined with the hustle, enthusiasm and fight of the newcomers these men should add a necessary touch of experience and polish to the squad. In this calculated combination, Iofredo hopes to find the secret for improving on last year's record of four wins and as many defeats.

The team of 1959 suffered considerably because of early-season injuries to key players. This year's squad, however, has the advantage of greater depth at all positions and affords Iofredo the opportunity of running two units.

At end, the Pumas offer Dave Beran of Chicago, George Rafferty of Canton, Ohio, and Mike Byrne of Chicago, all lettermen capable of giving top performances under pressure. Returning veteran Jim Dempsey and promising Sophomore Felix Wuerth bolster the position at guard and add rugged power to the St. Joe line. All I.C.C. tackle Vic Roos from Jasper, Indiana, Dennis Mudd, a senior letterman from Detroit and Mike Bartels will carry the brunt of the load at tackle while Jim Beirnat from Detroit and senior Harry Haros will share the spot at center.

The halfbacks are led by senior Bob Piero, a talented broken-field runner and the hard-driving Sophomore John Mirocha. Other men completing the roster at this position are Joe Forlenza, Joe Zolecki, Richard Cocbrane and Larry Wilmore. The quarterback slot, handled by Gardener and Beam will be strengthened by the reserve passing and running ability of Sophomore Dennis Houlihan from Lima, Ohio.

The added quantity and quality of this years personnel lends a bright note to the 1960 St. Joe football outlook.

Bear B-Men Bomb All-Stars at SJC

Ed Brown and Zeke Bratkowski hurled two touchdown passes apiece as the Bears defeated the College All-Stars 30-14 in a practice game on the St. Joseph's College football field, Tuesday Aug. 2.

The Bears led 23-0 at the half and 30-0 early in the fourth quarter when the All-Stars, sparked by Don Meredith, former Southern Methodist star, tallied twice. Scoring the first three times they had possession, the Bears quickly put the affair beyond reach of the recent campus heroes.

Brown in the first quarter directed a 70- yard march climaxed with a 14-yard screen pass to Willie Galimore.

In the second period Brown spearheaded an 80-yard parade that ended with a three-yard touchdown fling to Harlon Hill. Brown then left the game, having completed six of nine tosses for 102 yards.

Bratkowski took over on the Bears' 47 and soon fired a 59-yard TD chuck to Angelo Coia, rookie from Southern California. John Aveni added a 16-yard field goal before the half ended.

The third period was scoreless but the Bears went ahead 30-0 in the fourth when Bratkowski completed a 55-yard flip to John Farrington, rookie end from Prairie View College in Texas.

Meredith thereafter completed touchdown throws of 59-yards to Hugh McInnis from Mississippi Southern and of 10-yards to Monte Stickle.

Approximately 1,000 invited guests, sports luminaries, newspaper, radio and television men witnessed the game.

BULLETIN

Jim Koehler, a 21-year-old St. Joseph's graduate from Madison, Indiana, has been signed into the Cincinnati Red's organization. The lefthanded hitting outfielder, who was a basketball and baseball star at St. Joseph's, was assigned to the Red's Geneva, N.Y., club of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Koehler batted .366, .321 and .398 with the Pumas in his three years on the baseball team. Named to the All-Indiana Collegiate Conference baseball teams in 1959 and 1960 Koehler was approached by scouts from seven different major league clubs.

Versatile Jim Koehler Named Basketball MVP

Jimmy Koehler, mighty-mite general of the Puma basketball attack last winter, received the Fr. Frederick L. Fehrenbacher memorial award as the Most Valuable Player on the basketball team at the annual winter sports banquet.

Presented by the Chicago club for the first time this year, the award is given in honor of Fr. Fehrenbacher who passed away last winter and was always known to be an avid fan of all St. Joseph's teams. The winner is selected on the basis of his athletic ability, his scholarship, his character and his leadership.

Koehler is well known for his basketball talent. He was recognized as one of the finest little (5'7") guards in the Midwest according to the Denver Register. Toward the end of his junior year, Jimmy took over the driver's seat in the Pumas' attack and has led it ever since. He averaged 15.6 points a game during his senior season, and led the team in assists.

Besides leading the team in free throw percentage, he was third on the Puma squad in total scoring, percentage and average, and second only to Bobby Williams in field goals.

A senior from Madison, Ind., Jimmy was selected the Stuff Man of the Month for February in recognition of his all around campus achievements.

Jimmy has been a member of the Monogram club for the past three years and was president of the club this past year.

Jim O'Brien Ex-Puma QB, Joins SJC Faculty as Athletic News Director

St. Joseph's College has appointed James A. O'Brien, a 1958 graduate, as assistant director of the News Bureau in charge of athletic publicity. O'Brien will also join the faculty as an instructor in English.

Minor Sports Gain at SJC

Following the close of the '59-'60 school year Contact interviewed the Rev. Richard P. Baird, C.P.P.S., dierector of athletics at St. Joseph's College to obtain his comments concerning the progress made in his department during the past year. Here are some of Father Baird's comments.

"This year has seen an increased emphasis at St. Joseph's on the minor sports and as a result more students have had an opportunity to participate in varsity sports. However, this does not indicate, in any way, a de-emphasis of the major sports program. Rather, the resultant program of major and minor sports is in keeping with the requirements of the Indiana Collegiate Conference, to which St. Joseph's belongs, for a complete sports program in both the major and minor sports." (This will also give St. Joseph's a better chance to win the all-sports trophy which is awarded each year by the I.C.C. . . . Ed.)

Instruction Offered

"The minor sports program at St. Joseph's, which includes instruction and competition in wrestling, track, golf, tennis, and bowling and instruction in weight lifting is expected to benefit participants in the major sports (football - basketball - baseball) since it will give them opportunities to keep in snape by participation in a year around physical fitness program."

"Athletic grants will continue to be awarded to only those students who excell in football and basketball. However, in selection of students to receive football and basketball grants, participation in more than one sport will increase their chances of receiving an athletic grant."

Coaching Staff

(Presently coaching the major and minor sports at St. Joseph's are: Joe Iofredo, head football and basketball coach; Jim Holstein, assistant football coach, freshmen basketball coach and head coach of golf and baseball; Ed Dwyer, assistant football coach and head tennis, wrestling and track coach; and Rev. Boniface Dreiling, C.P.P.S., coach of the bowling team.)

Father Baird also announced that the seating capacity of the St. Joseph's fieldhouse has been increased with the purchase and installation of roll-away bleachers at the west end of the varsity basketball court between the varsity court and the intramural courts. The new bleachers cost was $7,890. Prior to the installation of these bleachers, the fieldhouse would accommodate approximately 1200 spectators.

A native of Cincinnati and a graduate of Purcell high school, O'Brien played quarterback for three years on the St. Joseph's football team and was valedictorian of his graduating class. For the past two years he has attended the University of Cincinnati, where he received a master's degree in English last June.

O'Brien succeeds Hugh P. Cowdin as athletic publicity director. Cowdin will continue as director of the News Bureau and assistant professor of journalism.

2 Pumas Make All-ICC Team

First baseman Jack Finnegan and outfielder Jim Koehler of St. Joseph's were named to the 1960 All-Indiana Collegiate Conference Baseball Team. Koehler was a repeater from the 1959 team and Finnegan, a 1958 choice, returned after missing out last year.

Selected by league players and coaches, the honor squad included three men from Ball State, two each from DePauw, Butler and St. Joseph's, and one each from Valparaiso and Indiana State.

Outfielder Al Whitlow of St. Joseph's was named to the second team and shortstop Jim Crowley and third baseman Bob Decker were given honorable mention.

Many Graduates Receive Awards

Out of the 126 candidates for graduation on June 5, nine students have reported the receipt of fellowships, assistantships, or scholarships to further their academic endeavors. Included in the list of award winners are Joe Kanamueller, Ed Dolan, Gary Lynch, Jim Blanz, Bob Smat, Henry Pictor, Ray Krizmanic, Mel Casey and Dick Meister. Several others have applied for awards but have not yet received word concerning them.

Kanamueller received the first Fulbright scholarship to be awarded to a St. Joseph's student.

Dolan, an economics major, has been awarded a National Defense Fellowship for study in economics and mathematics at the University of Kentucky. Like the Fulbright scholarship, this is also awarded through national competition.

Lynch, another economics major, has also been chosen as a recipient of a National Defense Fellowship. He will study economics at Washington State University, where he hopes to earn his masters degree and work toward his doctorate.

Blanz received assistantship offers from Wayne State university, the University of Wisconsin and Michigan State university. Majoring in mathematics at St. Joseph's, he has chosen to study at Wayne State. He also received honorable mention in the national competition sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Smat, a chemistry major, will continue his education at Iowa State University, where he has been awarded an assistantship in chemistry. He also received an offer from the University of Detroit.

Pictor plans to study law at Northwestern University and has been awarded a scholarship to attend that institution. An English major at St. Joseph's, Pictor also received a scholarship offer from New York University for the study of law.

Krizmanic will work toward his masters degree in history at the University of Wisconsin. He has been awarded a scholarship to attend this University and to study in his major field.

Casey, a general business major, received scholarship and assistantship offers from Bradley University and the University of Illinois. He has chosen to attend Bradley, where he will work toward his masters degree in marketing.

Meister has accepted a scholarship offer from the University of Notre Dame, where he will further his studies in history.

Robt. Conley, Jr., '41 Named to Board

The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, C.P.P.S., president of St. Joseph's College, has announced that Robert J. Conley, Jr., Rensselaer, Ind., has been appointed to the board of directors of the St. Joseph's Alumni Association. He will represent the area embraced by the newly organized five county chapter of the Alumni association (Benton, Jasper, Newton, Pulaski, and White counties, Indiana.)

ters at 4708 Indianapolis Blvd. Most of the Extension classes have been held previously in Bishop Noll high school.

"The new campus will function strictly as St. Joseph's College, except that it will be in Lake County instead of Rensselaer," said Father Martin. "We will have the same entrance and graduation requirements, and the same majors and courses. The only exception will be the natural science courses; we won't be able to offer those until we obtain laboratories."

Entrance Requirements

This means that, in order to gain entrance to St. Joseph's College, Calumet Center, a student will have to meet at least two of the following three requirements: a C average or 80 or equivalent in total high school work; rank in upper half of class; IQ of 110 or equivalent. A cumulative average of at least C (index of 2.00) will be needed to graduate.

Students will be able to major in: accounting, economics, education, English, English-journalism, general business, history, marketing, mathematics, philosophy, physical education, politics, psychology, sociology, and theology. They will be able to minor in any of the above, or in journalism, modern language, music, religion and speech.

Faculty

The faculty, according to Father Martin, will consist of six full-time teachers; teachers on a part-time basis from the parent campus in Rensselaer; and about 15 part-time professional persons from the Calumet area. The present Extension has operated, with regard to faculty, on a similar basis.

The new Center will continue to operate, as the Extension has done, on a day-night basis, and in addition to the regular St. Joseph curricula will continue the Extension's offering of seven adult education courses and three certificate programs. The adult education courses are Philosophy for Beginners; 20th Century Moral Problems; Psychology and Techniques of Leadership; The Personality of Christ; The Art of Thinking; Getting Along With People; and Outline of Theology for Adults. These will not be part of any degree programs.

Certificate Programs Offered

The two-year certificate programs are in general education, law enforcement and correctional work, and industrial relations.

The St. Joseph College Calumet Extension was begun, with Father Martin as director, in September, 1951. At that time there were 75 students and 10 courses.

The entire operation was conducted in rented space around the Calumet Region until January, 1958, when the Extension dedicated its own library and faculty room adjacent to its headquarters at 4708 Indianapolis Blvd. The new Center building will mark the first time it has ever had headquarters and classrooms of its own; the first time it will ever open its doors as a degree-granting institution; the end of the two-year St. Joseph College Calumet Extension; and the beginning of the first four-year college in Lake County—near Silver City, New Mexico to St. Joseph's college in 1957. Until 1921 Mr. Leach was chief geologist for the Phelps-Dodge Corp. at that company's Tyrone, N.M. copper mine. In 1921 Mr. Leach and his late wife began mining on their own and acquired considerable mining property, primarily gold, silver, bismuth, manganese, iron and uranium mines.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach were the first to discover and work, in 1920, the uranium deposits of the Merry Widow mine in the White Signal mining district of New Mexico. This was the first reported occurrence of uranium in that state. The land donated to St. Joseph's is the site of the college's field station for geology students, who take a six-hour field course there during the summer.

Justin H. Oppenheim

Mr. Oppenheim was connected with New Idea, Inc. of Coldwater, O. from 1923 until he retired in 1949. Starting as a sales clerk, he rose to assistant sales manager, general sales manager and finally vice-president and general manager of the New Idea Farm Equipment Division of AVCO Manufacturing Corp. He is also a past director of New Idea, Inc. and the AVCO Corp.

A native of Maria Stein, Ohio, Mr. Oppenheim attended St. Joseph's academy in Rensselaer and received the B.A. degree from Catholic University of America in 1923. In addition to his other duties, he was also, until 1949, vice-president of Henry J. Connor, Inc. of Washington, D.C. and he is a past president of Farm Equipment Institute, Chicago. Mr. Oppenheim now lives in Centerville, Ohio.

Ray Krizmanic, '60, a history major from Joliet, Ill., who graduated Summa Cum Laude, gave the valedictory address.
